Local Happenings

T. S. Gregson, Cardston was a Raymond visitor on Wednesday this week.

Police Magistrate J. W. Low was in Raymond on official business Tuesday of this week.

A demonstration of Menarch Stoves has been in progress at the Merc. since Monday, Sept. 9.

Stone's Groceries and Hardware have been in and out all week. "Will" hopes to get going right by Saturday.

Joe Kirkham was doing a little patching in front of Bennett's store Thursday morning.

The wheat trucks are passing down Broadway pretty regularly on their way to the elevators.

Heber Coles and Vern Henry have been busier than cranberry merchants getting the inside decorating done on the Raymond Motors block.

A. Betts is going to move his Shoe Repair Shop into the Raymond Motors Block just as soon as that building is completed.

This was Taylor Stake week at the Alberta Temple and quite a number of Raymond people spent Wednesday and Thursday at Cardston.

Maurice Cooper has been repairing culverts and bridges throughout the town for the past week. The work is doubly appreciated with the approach of winter.

Lee Ning has been going and coming all week between his new quarters and the old ones. He will have a real place fitted out by the first of the week.

W. Paris and J. Anderson have been wondering why so many people had to have their plumbing work done at the same time. And they have some job too fixing up for two cafes, a barber shop and a tailor shop in the new Raymond Motors block.

Messrs O. S. Longman and H. C. Perks were in Warner last Friday, as judges at the Flower Show of the Warner Constituency Women's Institute. Mesdames Thos. Allen, R. Webster and A. W. Kirkham also attended the Constituency Conference at that place on Friday Sept. 6th.

These rains are delaying threshing but they are making the beet men smile as the beet drink in all the moisture and it will add tons to every acre of beets in the district. The wheat isn't taking any particular harm and the autumn is young, so don't worry too quickly. A few thousand tons more beets as long as the grain isn't sprouted by too much rain is just that much more profit.

The Shooting season opens Monday Sept. 16. Police officers and Game Wardens have all received instructions to strictly enforce the game act, and all shooters will be well advised to keep within the law. If you don't know the law study the back of your license where you will get the high lights. Be a real sport and help preserve our wild game and at the same time enjoy your duck shooting each year.

WHEAT POOL NEWS

The Alberta Wheat Pool is making a determined effort to point out to Pool members the importance of delivering Pool grain to Pool elevators wherever it is possible. In view of the light crop in Alberta this year.

The Pool elevator system was built up for the purpose of giving service and protection to the membership. Three years ago there were 4 Pool elevators in Alberta. To-day there are 427, representing an investment of over six million dollars of Pool farmers money. This investment must be protected.

Pool members should realize that it is a matter of very great importance for the Selling Agency to have Pool wheat readily available at all times. When Pool wheat is delivered to Pool elevators it is always available to the Selling Agency.

This great elevator system developed because Pool farmers insisted

W.C. Stone Honored

W. C. Stone was so surprised that he lost the power of speech for a few seconds when on Wednesday morning the staff of the Raymond Mercantile Co presented him with a beautiful gold wrist watch as a token of their regard for the long and happy years they had labored together in the Merc. The wording of the letter accompanying the presentation is very unique and with the consent of those interested we are publishing it:

Raymond, Alberta.

Sept. 11th, 1929.

Dear Will,

No Flowers, No Slow Music, No Speeches, No Remarks, No Tears, No Specials, and last but not least No Tick, only the Tick of the enclosed Watch, and may it tick off the hours of your success where ever you go and what ever you do.

These are our wishes, and our very kindest regards.

Your old Sidekicks.

BROADWAY HIT SOON HERE AS SCREEN'S PRIME THRILLER

"ON TRAIL," at the CAPITOL THEATRE TONIGHT and SAT.

"On Trail," Warner Bros. latest crime mystery special, is being hailed as the best murder trial melodrama to be presented as a motion picture. Though this fact is undoubtedly one of the reasons for the sensation it is creating in theatrical circles all over the country, there are several other factors of even greater importance.

The first of these is the exceptionally brilliant cast, headed by Pauline Frederick, Bert Lytell, Lois Wilson and Holmes Herbert, and including Jason Robards, Franklin Pangborn, Johnny Arthur, Richard Tucker, Edward Martindel, Fred Kelsey, Vendell Darr and Edmund Breese.

The second is that "On Trail" is adapted by the versatile Robert Lord. The third is the fact that it was directed by Archie L. Mayo, one of the pioneer directors of Warner Bros. productions.

The fourth reason is the play itself written by Elmer Rice, and with a record of forty-six weeks on Broadway and numerous revivals and road company presentations throughout the country.

"On Trail" injected anew and revolutionary idea into the theatre, the "flash-back", first influence of motion picture technique on the theatre. Because of this motion picture structure, it was ideally suited for adaptation to the screen which makes possible qualities not attainable on the stage. "On Trail" is an all talking picture and shows at the Capitol to-night and Saturday.

that this course be taken. For years the head office of the Wheat Pool has been deluged with requests and even demand for Pool elevators. Now it is up to Pool farmers to show their appreciation of their own system by delivering their wheat to Pool elevators.

The introduction of combines and auto trucks has speeded up harvesting on the Canadian prairies to a remarkable degree. The result has been an unprecedented flow of grain to the elevators during a brief period in the fall. In order to restrict this glut as much as possible the Alberta Wheat Pool is offering a bonus of 2 cents a bushel for wheat held on farms until December 2nd, 1929. Wheat producers should realize it is not good business to deliver the crop in such a hurried manner that it has a reactionary effect on the market.

The Wheat Pool has not made a practice of compelling Pool farmers to deliver their crop in one crop year. For instance: some Pool farmers have carried wheat from their 1928 crop past the date of the closing of the 1928 Pool, which was July 15, and delivered this grain to the 1929 Pool. No objections have been made by the Pool against this practice. A recent news item issued by the Wheat Pool mentioned that action had been taken against a few Pool members who had not delivered their 1928 wheat to the Pool. This has been construed by some to mean all Pool wheat should be delivered within the Pool year. As a matter of fact the action was taken because the wheat had been delivered outside the Pool.

M. I. A. Opening Social Is Very Successful

The Opening Social of the Mutual Improvement Association of the two Raymond wards were held on Tuesday evening, and from reports gathered the evening was a decided success in both ward and points to a very successful season in M.I.A. work.

The Story Book wedding was carried out very nicely in both wards and made a deep impression regarding the purposes and aims of the combining of the Young Women's Journal and the Improvement Era for a field of extended service in its missionary work to M.I.A. Priesthood and general church readers.

With the stage centered with a big framework with a view depicting the front page of the larger edition of the new Era, and on either side of this a smaller frame of the Young Women's Journal, on one side from which stepped the person representing Princess Journal and the present Era from which stepped the person representing Prince Era, the Prime Minister, etc., and the story book wedding performed on the stage with Ladies in Waiting, Maids, Flower girls, Herlids, Lords, Fairy Princesses, and etc made a very impressive scene, and one which will come to mind as often as the new Era is read.

The program in both wards was essentially the same and consisted of the usual opening exercises, a few musical numbers, games, the Story Book Wedding, the serving of wedding cake, suitably wrapped, following the wedding ceremony, refreshments and dancing.

One purpose of the evening was a drive for subscriptions to the new Era, and a collection of the fund, and both objects received splendid support from the good natured crowds in attendance.

The ward Mutual officers of both Raymond wards are deserving of no end of praise for the efforts put forth in making the evening so successful, and in connection with them, each and everyone who assisted in the thousand and one things that are always necessary to make such an evening a success.

Those taking part in the Wedding in each ward were as follows:—

Princess Journal—Mrs. Mendenhall
Prime Minister—J. W. Alfred
Herlids—John L. Allen
Fairy—Alice Litchfield

Yesterday and Today

Thirty-five years ago the sixth of June last, in a jeweller's shop in a small town across the border, a young U.S. Government clerk, C. Francis Jenkins, using the machine pictured above, which he had just invented, staged the first public exhibition of moving pictures in America.

It remained, however, for the telephone engineer and the scientist, trained in the electrical trans-

ENLARGING HANNA MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL

(By Edna Kells)

Ten years after the launching of the Municipal hospital campaign in Hanna, an extension to the original hospital built in 1921, will be formally opened on September 12, by the Hon. George Hoadley Minister of Public Health.

The original hospital provided accommodation for 22 patients; the new wing increases the accommodation to 54 beds, and also provides more suitable quarters for the nursing staff.

In addition to affording facilities for the care of the sick during these years, the Hanna hospital has been a financial success. Since 1923, over $30,000 has been expended from general revenue for new equipment such as an X ray machine, fire protection, and operating room equipment. A sub hospital at Cragnyle has been furnished at an outlay of approximately $8,000; and a surplus of $66,000 stands to the credit of the hospital. Furthermore, such opposition as met the idea in the rural districts in the early history of the hospital, has disappeared like snow before a chinook, and when the vote providing for the extension was taken last year, it carried by a majority of 603. Only 83 ratepayers opposed the scheme. The increased support came largely from the rural districts.

The Hanna hospital is a three story brick building with full basement. The rooms are sunny and immaculate and the wards are all private or semi private. All the equipment found in an up-to-date hospital of its size, is found in the Hanna hospital.

The primary idea behind the Municipal Hospital act was to provide for maternity cases, and the women of the Hanna district have not failed to take advantage of their privilege. Few now remain in their homes for confinement. More than 700 babies have been born in the Hanna hospital and in one eventful twenty four hours six lusty young Canadians first saw the light under the hospital roof.

During the year 1928, 1,353 patients were cared for, an increase of 19.3 per cent over 1927. Hospital days numbered 4,897, 115 major and 327 minor operations were performed, and 40 fractures treated. Medical cases numbered 553 and maternity 138. 140 babies were born, 49 clinical cases were treated and 550 X ray plates taken. Deaths numbered 43, including 8 stillborn and premature babies and 2 blue babies. More than 4000 X ray cases have been treated in the Hanna hospital.

The people from Hanna are naturally proud of their hospital. The Hanna district borders on the dry area, and has had its ups and downs. Pointing to the hospital the people say: "If we can do this in the drouth area, what could be done under ideal conditions?"

HUNGARIAN BLUEBEARD IS ACCUSED OF MURDERING THIRTEEN OF HIS WIVES

TOOK ANOTHER CRIMINALS LIFE TERM TO ESCAPE THE GALLOWS

CAREER RECALLS THAT OF LANDRU IN FRANCE

Vienna, Sept. 3.—Bela Kiss, Hungarian Bluebeard, who murdered 13 of his "wives" before the war and outwitted the police of Europe for 20 years, has been discovered in the Hunan prison of Arad, where he was serving a life sentence for another criminal in order to escape the gallows. This arch-soundrel's terrible career recalls the adventures of Landru, the French women murderer, whom Kiss resembles somewhat in appearance and his method of disposing of his victims' bodies.

This fantastic tale begins more than twenty years ago in the Hungarian village of Elnkoto, near Budapest, where a dwarfed, bearded gorilla-like man named Kiss excited the interest and envy of his neighbors by his astonishing success with women.

Every month a fresh female face would be seen at the window of the little villa where he lived and loved, but when asked how he managed to change his sweethearts so often, he would mutter something to the effect that women "are difficult to get on with and rid of." Also that the madonnas of the village "have all gone to the same place."

Riley Weaver, Scout Leader, Is Laid To Rest at Raymond

The main floor of the stake house was filled to capacity with people on Sunday, representatives of many towns along the line, who came to attend the funeral services of Riley Weaver, who died four days previously at Galt Hospital, Lethbridge, following only a few months of illness.

The large attendance together with the very many floral offerings were certainly tributes of great honor and high regard for the life of the deceased who for two decades has served in the capacity of boy scout leader and executive.

Perhaps there are few callings in life that are considered more noble than freely serving others and especially the youth upon whose shoulders rests future responsibilities, and in this capacity Riley Weaver served nobly in the interest of, and for the welfare of the Boy Scouts. Such were among the references made by several of the speakers during the funeral services. T. George Wood, Stake Scout Master, was the first speaker. He said that the life of the deceased among the youth and young men of the community had left a good impression and wielded an influence for good in the lives of these young people. "He was a man whom men loved and respected for the contribution he had made for the welfare of the boys of the district."

John L. Allen, in a few brief remarks, eulogized the life of Mr. Weaver. The speaker referred to the ideals the deceased had created in the minds of the boys and young people. He was faithful and diligent to service, and a man of great patience.

Harry Fairbanks, a co-worker in Scout activities with Mr. Weaver, also stated that scout director Weaver was loved by all the boys, because he was kind to them.

W. Heninger, the concluding speaker, referred to the deceased, who was a man who had done much for him by his example and leadership among the youth. Mr. Heninger said he was the last to receive a commission at the hands of Scout Director R. Weaver.

One of the most impressive ceremonies of the service was the tribute of silence and the salute from the Boy Scout directors, Scout masters, and Scouts, under the direction of Stake Scout leader T. Geo. Wood.

Vocal solos were rendered by Bishop J. H. Walker, T. K. Roberts and Blanche Scoville, also the double mixed quartette and choir numbers under the direction of Charles B. Strong.

President H. S. Allen offered the invocation and President J. W. Evans the benediction. Interment was made in the Raymond cemetery. Bishop J. H. Walker had charge of the services.

Nothing was suspected until the mystery man sold his house and disappeared. The following year, the new owner of the villa, who had decided to rebuild it, discovered in the foundations, deep down in the earth, thirteen iron chests, all securely locked. The police were summoned, and when the chests had been forced open, it was revealed that they contained the bodies of thirteen brutally murdered young women. An extensive search for the slayer throughout Europe was immediately started and continued for years. Indeed, it was not until it was falsely reported that Kiss had died in Africa from malaria while serving under an assumed name in the French Foreign Legion that the man hunt began to dwindle.

Now, however, it has been definitely proved that a certain inmate of the Rumanian prison of Arad stole the identity papers of a notorious robber chieftain named Franz Wimmer and cheerfully assumed responsibility for his crimes in order to escape the fate he knew would be his were his real identity to become known.

When Kiss, alias Wimmer, was told that he would be extradited for trial in Hungary, he went mad with fear. He succeeded in escaping from his cell, but was recaptured. Then he attempted to commit suicide by cutting an artery with his chains. He is now in the prison infirmary under guard. —Calgary Herald.

YOUR SUBSCRIPTION

We are in the midst of what promises to be one of the most profitable harvests for a number of years. The amount of money in circulation in the town, as a result of the sale of the wheat and beet crop and a payment of bills, odd and sundry.

We are overjoyed that fortune has been so kind to us here in giving us such a bounteous harvest and we hope that some of the returns will be used to clear the land from debt and make our heritage here secure, for this is surely a choice land and a splendid place in which to live.

We hope too, that our readers will not forget us when pay day comes around. We have not pushed very hard so far, on subscriptions, as we realize that most of our readers have but one pay day per year, generally and we want the Recorder in every home where the inmates want a good local paper, and so we have waited in the hope that when the golden grain was marketed, we would be able to make the mailing list look a little more cheerful.

We do not feel that we are asking for charity. While the Recorder is not all that we could wish for, we are striving to make it better week by week, and the only way this will be possible is for you to support us.

Pay your subscription, give us your news items, and when your neighbor comes to borrow your paper, suggest to him in a kindly way that for $2.00 a year he can have a copy of it put in the post office each week for a whole year and save himself the trouble of borrowing yours.

Don't lose patience with us when we talk subscription. Because a merchant sells flour, pork and beans, etc. we don't expect him to give us our butter, salt and pepper free. And so with us. Selling subscriptions is one of our lines of business, just as much as selling advertising, when we talk advertising to a customer, the first thing he wants to know is how big a circulation we have. So you see, besides giving you a good spicy paper each week for a year, your $2.00 gives us talking power when we come to sell other lines of our merchandise.

What Raymond builds, builds Raymond, and if you support us, we will support you, and advertise the district till everyone will know us for what we are, one of the most prosperous districts in all of Alberta.

THE TENTH LEAGUE ASSEMBLY

The tenth annual Assembly of the League of Nations opened yesterday with a larger representation of states than on any previous occasion. Most of the absentees in the past have been representatives of Central or South American countries. The increased strength of the Latin-American contingent this year would appear to be the result of the discreet but successful intervention of the League Council in the dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay last December.

Although the printed agenda gives no hint that there will be any outstanding problem to be discussed, it is probable that the tenth Assembly will be more important than any of its predecessors, and that the lead will be given by Ramsay MacDonald in a speech he is expected to make to day in the course of the general debate with which the Assembly proceedings always open. With the exception of the British delegation, there are few strangers on the Assembly benches or rather, in the Assembly armchairs—and despite the traditional continuity of British foreign policy, it is certain that the greater readiness of Mr. MacDonald and Arthur Henderson than that of Sir Austen Chamberlain to accept the theory of compulsory arbitration will have a profound effect on the work accomplished at Geneva during the next three weeks. Thus the British Prime Minister is expected to announce his approval of the optional clause of the World Court, thereby blinding his country to accept its decision in any "legal" dispute with any other country which has also accepted the optional clause. Such an announcement is almost certain to be followed by similar undertakings on the part of many other delegates, and an important step toward the reduction of armaments by the indirect method of developing alternatives to war would thus be taken.

Similarly the present British Government can be expected to adopt a sympathetic attitude toward the "General Act" for the pacific settlement of international disputes drawn up by the last Assembly, rather against the will of the late British Government. This "General Act" it will be remembered, provides for the settlement of quarrels without the intervention of the Council, and indeed, by avoiding all reference to the Council it may be said to be a promising attempt to "give teeth" to the Kellogg pact. Up to the present, the "General Act" has been accepted by Sweden, Belgium and Norway, and a bill of accession is now before the French Parliament. Acceptance by the British Government of this model treaty of conciliation and arbitration should definitely put an end to the tortuously slow method of concluding bilateral treaties differing in terms. These only too often lead to confusion and misunderstanding.

On the subject of the reduction of armaments, it is difficult to see what steps can usefully be taken by the League Assembly. Indeed, the famous third committee, which deals with this subject, may be, for the first time in its history, the least interesting of the six Assembly committees, since there is a general recognition that nothing can be done until an agreement has been reached, first between the United States and Great Britain and then between these two and the other principal naval powers. But the link between disarmament and security is now universally recognized and the progress of the idea of compulsory arbitration should make it much more easy for public opinion to accept a drastic reduction of navies and armies when the time comes.—Christian Science Monitor.

TOWN HALL BY-LAW PASSED

At the regular meeting of the Town Council on Thursday evening, with a full quorum present, the New Town Hall By-Law was passed unanimously. The Mayor and Secretary were empowered to get plans and specifications for the next meeting, and F. B. Rolfsen, Raymond, and H. Wm. Meech, Lethbridge will be asked to make pencil sketches of the proposed building. Tenders will likely be called for as soon as a definite plan has been accepted.

It was also decided to put in a storage tank in connection with the pumps for our water system, and Sec. O. H. Snow was instructed to write H. Wm. Meech, Lethbridge, who has already some information on this subject, regarding approximate costs, capacity, water levels, etc.

The remainder of the meeting was devoted to work of a more or less routine nature, and the passing of the monthly payroll.

News Notes

Geo. Brewerton is visiting here for a few days with relatives.

Thursday was a nice warm and clear harvest day.

"Bill" Moore, Massey Hariss Block man was in Raymond on Thursday.

An attendance social of the First Ward Primary will be held, Saturday evening, Sept. 28th in the High School Auditorium. A splendid evening is being planned, and if you watch carefully further details will be announced. First Warders should keep the date in mind.

If you miss "On Trial" you will miss one of the best pictures "Lee" has shown in a long time, and that is saying a whole lot. Only a few saw it Thursday night but everyone was very enthusiastic about it. The recording is wonderfully plain. Tonight and tomorrow night will be your last chance to see it.

FRENCH FARMERS REAP METAL CROP

Arras, France, Sept. 5.—Farmers hereabouts that were battlefields are yielding a harvest of metal almost as valuable as their harvest of food. Copper, lead and iron, shot by the cannon of all the armies, are gathered by a peacetime army of 5,000 men and women. Other thousands of boys and girls help out family budgets with their daily load of metal.

For ten years this has been going on and it probably will continue another five years. Every time a field is ploughed or harrowed more metal comes to the surface. The government theoretically owns all this but contractors have bought the right to it. There are crews of expert workers who pass from farm to farm, some times picking up the metal themselves and sometimes buying the heap already gathered by the farmer and his family.

A million pounds of copper and lead were found last year in one department. Of iron and steel there are seven times as much. The enormous quantity of copper, thousands of tons, consists mostly of empty cartridges, an evidence of the millions and millions of shots fired by the armies that fought over this ground for more than four years.—Calgary Herald.

S. Ellis has the foundation all in and bricklayers from Lethbridge will soon commence work on the new church.

The Sunday School was pleased to have a visit from several State officers. They were T. Geo. Wood, Ira McBride and Ruth Meldrum. They were accompanied by Mrs. McBride. MATERNAL MORALITY

Some weeks ago, an article was published, under the above heading, which concluded by urging that the provision of adequate medical and nursing care for every mother, both before and during her confinement, be accepted as a national policy, and that every community in Canada bestir itself to see that such services were made available for each mother in the community. Since the publication of this article, requests have come for information as to what might be done, and an opportunity presents itself to reply, in a second article, to the questions suggested by the previous one.

In a country so widespread and so varying in population and in climate it is impossible to lay down a plan which would be suitable for all. The best that can be done is to state what should be provided and then to urge the communities, who know their own conditions, their particular needs and their resources, to work out a plan suitable to their locality.

Every expectant mother should have ante-natal care, which means an early examination and supervision during her entire pregnancy by her physician. At the time of her confinement, she should have her doctor and also the services of a graduate nurse. The properly qualified nurse does not take the place of the doctor but, working under the doctor's directions, she is as indispensable as is the doctor himself. There is also need for hospital accommodation for those cases which cannot be properly cared for at home.

When a community is ready to face this problem, or when some interested persons are willing to make an effort to do something, it is advisable for them to consult with the country or district medical society and with the Health Officer. The lay group and the professional group should work together in making a study as to particular needs and regarding plans for the future. Representatives from the local nursing profession should, of course, be included in such a conference.

The apparent impossibility of doing everything that should be done is no reason for deterring a willing group from doing their utmost at present. Progress is made by small steps just as surely as by occasional leaps and bounds.

Here and There

Canadian Pacific steamer Minnedosa recently brought over to Canada two fine stallions belonging to the Prince of Wales, "Aldebaran" an Arab, and "Crusader," a Clyde, to the royal ranch at High River, Alberta. The two horses broke their journey at the Toronto Exhibition, and later were carried across the Dominion by Canadian Pacific Express. Special accommodation was provided for them on the Minnedosa.

Hon. L. C. M. S. Amery, secretary for the Dominions in the Baldwin administration, fulfilled his wish recently when he climbed Mount Amery, 10,940-foot peak in the Rockies, to accomplish which he had travelled some six thousand miles by Canadian Pacific Express of Australia and lines to Lake Louise from England. He fought his way through blizzards and many other hardships to the top of the peak. He was accompanied by a Swiss guide, Edward Peuz, of Lake Louise.

"Mr. Churchill looked very funny working on one of father's threshing machines," said the Hon. George Rodney, aged ten, who with his younger brother John recently travelled to England to take up schooling. Winston Churchill is a cousin of Lord Rodney who operates a ranch at Fort Saskatchewan, Alberta.

The fourth game refuge has been established in New Brunswick by the provincial government at Deschamps, consisting of 43 square miles located in Carleton and York counties. This makes a total in all of about 640 square miles of territory set aside in the province as game sanctuaries since 1915.

Hon. J. L. Perron, Quebec minister of agriculture, has announced the loan of two-thirds of the purchase price of pure-bred sheep, without interest charges, to Quebec farmers. He aims to place 25,000 pure-bred sheep throughout the province to bring in a yearly revenue of $250,000.

A yield of 3,599,995 barrels of apples is expected in Canada this year, as compared with 3,235,970 in 1928. Compared with the five-year average of 2,985,310 barrels this is an increase of 20%, making it a bumper crop.

Homestead entries in the four western provinces continue to run well ahead of last year. For the half year they number 7,129 as compared with 5,165 in the same six months period of 1928. Alberta topped the list with 4,652 filings; Saskatchewan followed with 2,381; British Columbia recorded 571 and Manitoba 225.

Sixty-three wells are being drilled in the Turner Valley, 39 miles south-west of Calgary. 21 are just about to be started and 28 are producing crude naphtha or crude oil—a total of 112 wells. Mr. Winston Churchill, on his recent trip across the Dominion by Canadian Pacific paid a special visit to the Turner Valley accompanied by Mayor Osborne of Calgary.

Selection is announced of John W. Dufoe, Editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, to act as a commissioner on the part of the United States on the International Commission under the Treaty for the Advancement of Peace between the United States and Germany. Mr. Dufoe was selected for this post by the United States Government acting through Hon. William Phillips, United States Minister to Canada. The International Commission now being set up by the United States and Germany is to have five members, of which Mr. Dufoe is the first to be named. All disputes between the United States and Germany, after ordinary diplomatic proceedings have failed, are to be referred to the Commission.

NEW RAILROAD TO PENETRATE LAST FRONTIER

CONTRACTS LET FOR 78 MILES OF TRACK OPENING NEW REGION IN TEXAS

Alpine, Tex.—A contract has been let for the construction of approximately 78 miles of railroad in Presidio County, Texas, which trackage will close one of the two remaining gaps in the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railway from Kansas City to a sea port terminal on the west coast of Mexico.

The 78-mile extension will be of 90-pound steel rails on creosoted ties, it is reported, and the construction will be through much rugged mountain country, in a region heretofore untouched by a railway and thinly inhabited. The territory has been referred to as "America's last frontier." There is no town and hardly a ranch house in the 78 miles.

The contract, according to official statements here, has been let to a Chicago company. It will involve about $1,000,000 in construction costs it is said. Surveys have been and are under way, and construction materials are being assembled and sub-contracts such as for grading are being let.

The Santa Fe railway purchased the Orient a few months ago. The terminal in Texas has been at Alpine for several years. The new extension will carry the trackway to Presidio on the Rio Grande, in the Big Bend of Texas. Steel has been laid on the Mexican side in the last year northward to Ojinaga, which is the Mexican town on the Rio Grande opposite Presidio, Tex.

The Texas extension will not actually connect with the end of the road here, but will be started from the Southern Pacific Railway about 12 miles west of here, at a mountain pass known as Paisano. The new Santa Fe will use the Southern Pacific tracks from here to the point of construction at Paisano, according to the arrangement that has been announced in railway circles.

Paisano Pass is the highest point on the Southern Pacific between New Orleans and the California Mountains, having an elevation above sea level of 5074 feet.—Christian Science Monitor

GAS-ELECTRIC TYPE OF CAR DEVELOPED

Chicopee, Mass., Sept. 5.—Successful tests of a new type gasoline-electric drive automobile have been completed by Rauch and Lang, Inc., of this city in conjunction with General Electric engineers.

A 35 horsepower sleeve valve 6-cylinder gasoline engine is the primary power plant, which actuates an electric generator located where the gear shift assembly is ordinarily placed. This supplies current to a small motor which actuates a short drive shaft connected with rear axle assembly. There is no gear shift but manual throttle control. A dash board switch reverses direction of the current in the motor field to effect a forward or reverse direction of the
